EDITORIAL MUSINGS.

Be Kind to Animals Week.

Every week should be a "Be Kind to Animals Week." But as most people are not keenly observant of the kind of treatment given animals, the American Humane Association is trying to concentrate attention on the subject of human treatment to animals.

The great majority of people are sympathetic with dumb life, only they never stop to think what kind of treatment dumb life gets. They look with disapproval at the tradesman's boy beating his employer's horse. But they never occurs to them to complain to the police. In most cases a word to the owner of the animal would prove sufficient correction.

Pet animals usually get good care. They are kept by people who enjoy them and take pleasure in their comfort and happiness. But many working animals are kept by persons who naturally are not sympathetic with their condition. The cheerful whinny of Old Dobbin as they shoved hay down the manger, conveys no friendly message to them. If they can keep him quiet with a half measure of hay or woody old straw, they gladly do it to save money.

But it never any economy. A working animal labors at a profit only when he feels well. A shortage of fodder, and he is languid and spiritless. It is a pitiful sight to see some specimens of horseflesh that are driven about the streets.

Most people walk down the business sections of a town where horses are tied here and there, and never give a thought to the conditions under which they are left. On hot days many owners never stop to think about seeking shade for the patient beast. They are just as likely to tie him on the sunny side. If insects are abundant, they never think to throw a net or a duster over him. Prosecutions are not often necessary. People are mostly thoughtless, and need only to have their attention called to conditions that produce discomfort in the speechless and toiling world of animal life.

The Care of Old Animals.

An interesting news dispatch the past week reports the death of a noted racing horse familiar to all devotees of the turf. She breathed her last at the estate of a Kentucky breeder, who bought the horse several years ago to pension her.

There is so much thoughtlessness in the care of aged animals, that it is pleasant to see this notice of consideration. Too many faithful beasts of every-day life are pushed ahead until they drop. No halo of the race track follows their heads.

There are all extremes of sentiment in this matter. Some people are so sensitive that they will not take the life of an aged horse or dog, even where the animal has passed any enjoyment of existence. They feel keenly the individuality of animals, and putting them out of the way with chloroform seems almost like taking the life of a child. This over sensitivity to animal life is rare.

The faithful horse who has drawn a family's burdens for a lifetime should be something more than a mere drudge. If he has been treated with kindness, he makes known his affection for his masters, and welcomes their approach with the cheerful neigh.

He has contributed his share to the household labors, in return for a meager wage of hay and grain. He has toiled through heat and cold and storm and has got no satisfaction out of life beyond the bare pleasure of good digestion. It seems one of the anomalies of existence, that so much can be given so willingly and faithfully for so small a return.

He ought to have something coming to him in his twilight, by way of rest, some free seasons in a good grassy pasture where he can kick up his heels and enjoy sleep and food, untroubled by heavy loads, chafing harness, and the toll of the road. The pensioned horses should not include merely famous racers and family pets.

"CASCARETS" BEST IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS, SICK, CONSTIPATED

Best For Liver and Bowels, Bad Breath, Bad Colds, Sour Stomach.

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When the poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet, breath right, complexion rosy and your liver and bowels regular for months. (adv)

HERE'S TIP ABOUT HOTEL GUESTS

In the January American Magazine a writer says:

"Here's a funny thing, by the way, that I've noticed about hotel guests: You have a soiled towel in a room, and the guest will probably complain. But you can have a bucket of paint and a paper-hanger's scaffold in the hallway, and compel the guests to crawl under a stepladder to get to his room, and he will put up with it cheerfully—because he knows you are painting or papering by way of making an improvement, and he is in sympathy with that. It doesn't cost much to make over a carpet so that a bare spot in front of the dresser will be eliminated, but such little details are a vast help in making a hotel prosper."

POTATO QUARANTINE AMENDED

Hereafter shipments of potatoes from the Dominion of Canada certified by the shippers to be as sound as is commercially practicable and to contain no more than 10 per cent of tubers showing traces of disease will be admitted at any port of entry of the United States, instead of at certain designated ports only, as in the past. The shipments, if accompanied by certificates of soundness as provided, will not be held by collectors of customs for inspection, except on special notification from the Federal Horticultural Board. An order amending the rules and regulations of the potato quarantine to this effect has just been issued by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Under the amended regulations the importer must apply to the Federal Horticultural Board for a permit for importation of potatoes as at present, designating the desired port of entry. The foreign shipper must enter the number of such permit on his certificate of soundness. The Federal Horticultural Board has prepared and will send to all applicants for permits forms for shippers' certificates of soundness.

The pasturing of corn is especially applicable to semiarid regions. The dry soil is not injured by the animals, and very little corn goes to waste or spoils by coming in contact with the soil. The stalks are left in good shape to prevent the drifting of snow.

I, a Southern Gentleman, am Named

And You Find "Sovereign" King Of Them All

Well, way back in 1901, after I had been in this bright, happy world for several days, I began to get worried like. I didn't have any name.

Folks were calling me "it" and "the new one" and "whatdya-call-it." I didn't like it a bit. Then one day I heard the Big Chief telephoning all his department heads to meet in his office.

Pretty soon they all came filing in. Tall chaps, short chaps, fat chaps and skinny chaps. "Now that he is here," said the Big Chief, "what will you name him?"

My! how they wrangled and wrangled and wrangled. You know, you have heard them argue whether He'd be called Jack or John or Jim before. Finally, one fellow spoke up and said:

"Why not call him 'SOVEREIGN'? His mother was a Virginian, his father an aristocrat of the Carolinas. He comes from the very best stock. He comes from the very sweetest, ripest, mellowest Virginia and Carolina tobacco. He is being raised right in one of the cleanest, whitest, healthiest homes on earth. He is a Southerner born, a Southerner bred, a Southern gentleman—the king of them all—a real SOVEREIGN.

The Folks of the South KNOW good blood.
The Folks of the South KNOW good tobacco.

SOVEREIGN—the best—is none too good a name." So I was named, friend, for I want you as one of my friends, and it means a whole heap when I say—

I am guaranteed by The American Tobacco Co. —Buy me. If you don't like me return me to your dealer and get your money back. I have said it. A Southern gentleman is known the world over for keeping his word, and I have given you mine.
